Top 5 Reasons for Christians to Vote

[by Linda Harvey]

Once again, a very important election is upon us, and as news outlets project much higher than usual turn-out, there are also reports that many Christians will once again fail to show up on election day.

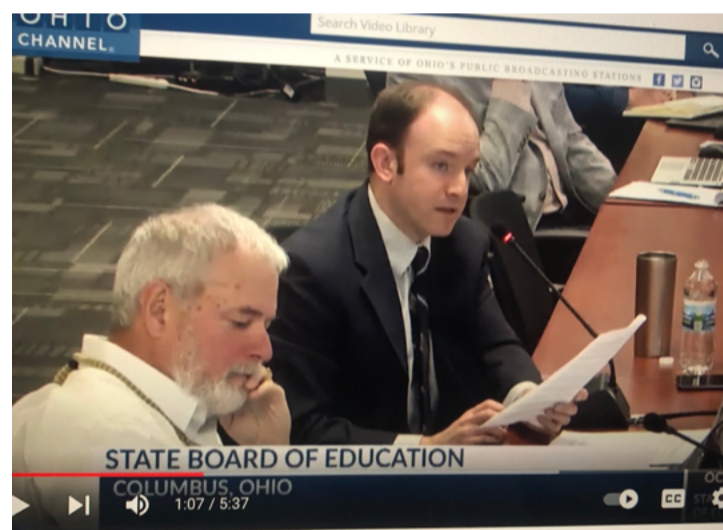

I was mystified by this thirty years ago when I became a believer, and I am even more puzzled today. Here are the top five reasons why.

Why do Christians fail to understand the incredible privilege Americans have to choose our leaders? I began to be much more concerned about politics after I became a believer because my eyes were opened to the gift that America is to the world, and to live here is an immense blessing. As much as we are able, we need to preserve that blessing, because American stability itself, and a vibrant Christian voice within this country, are clearly in danger.

OH State Board of Ed Will Consider Several Resolutions on Gender Issue November 14

For the third time, the Ohio State Board of Education will consider whether they can object to the radical gender agenda that is harming and misleading so many Ohio students. The executive committee will take up not just Brendan Shea's excellent original resolution objecting to the Biden administration's unlawful proposed changes to Title IX law, but they will consider the Toal amendment (which keeps much of the Shea amendment and is supportable) and a very watered down version presented by Acting President Charlotte McGuire. BOARD MEMBERS have requested that people in support ATTEND, even though there is probably no public testimony. To read all there, click below.
