‘Banned Books Week’ (Sept. 18-24) Protects Low Quality Trash

In one of the most diabolical tragedies of modern America, many public and school libraries dispense mental, emotional, and spiritual poison. And parents and schools are being manipulated into a “hands off” position by one carefully-crafted, accusatory word. Censorship.

“Banned Books Week” is September 18-24, the annual effort by the American Library Association and its army of leftist library drones to plant a territorial flag in the literary sand.

Parents, do not mess with us. This land is our land, and do not question what we bring before your children-- we, and our friends in self-interested publishing houses that rake in the profits while destroying a child’s dreams, ideals and sanity.

School Corruption & Propaganda Calendar Updated for 2022-23

We've updated our popular propaganda events' calendar so parents can be forewarned about public school observances. We begin with “Banned Books Week,” the attempt to justify any trash that publishers want to peddle to our kids. It's September 18 - 24, 2022— This year the American Library Association makes no secret of its affinity for all things “LGBTQ” by naming George M. Johnson as the honorary chair of BBW. Johnson, who wants people to use the pronouns “they/them” for him, is the author of All Boys Aren't Blue, which glorifies teen sexuality including homosexuality and gender deviance.
